NEWS

DOMARK DO IT AGAIN!

Domark are busy putting the finishing touches to their latest top titles, Marble Madness and Paperboy! Marble Madness will be the first to appear and what a treat it looks! Guide a marble through winding passages, over treacherous-bridges and around an assortment of weird and wonderful baddies in a conversion that seems extremely close to its arcade parent!

Next up will be Paperboy, the game of high-octane newspaper delivering! Control the lad of the title and score points by getting the papers in the letterboxes on time. Paperboy was an instant hit in the arcades, not only for being a brill game but also due to the fact that it had a real set of BMX handlebars stuck to the cabinet. It's doubtful that these will come packaged with the Game Gear version, but Domark promise fun and frolics when this one hits the streets!

LEMMINGS ON YOUR GAME GEAR!

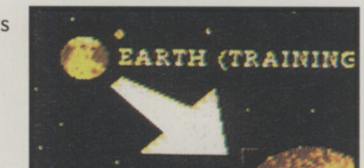
News of another top title coming to Game Gear - Lemmings! Those little loonies, who made such an impact on Amiga and are currently bringing the house down on Super Nintendo, will be making an appearance in the coming months in a conversion that is surprisingly close to the original!

The job of transporting Lemmings to the small screen has been put in the capable hands of Probe Software who, as we revealed last month, are also handling the Game Gear version of The Terminator. Probe have altered the control system to allow for uncomplicated play using the GG's joypad and, if the early version we saw is anything to go by, the lads down Croydon way have done an excellent job of copying both graphics and gameplay. Expect more info on Game Gear Lemmings in a couple of months, when we bring you the lowdown on what could be one of the hand-held games of the year!

IT'S X-CITING! IT'S X-ELLENT!! IT'S X!!!

Look out soon for X - the latest 3D Game Boy spectacular on the Game Boy! A sprawling space adventure, X puts you in the moon-boots of a daring space pilot, patrolling the planets in a series of missions to destroy the enemy aliens that have taken over the galaxy. Sterling stuff, eh? Okay, so the plot isn't the most imaginative ever, but just one look at these early screens will tell you that the programmers know what they're doing when it comes to wire-frame 3D graphic design on a Game Boy!]

There's a mountain of things to blow up, from tanks and UFOs to radar stations and alien bases. There's power cubes to pick up if the old energy is running low, and lightning-fast races down three-dimensional tunnels to get that adrenalin pumping!

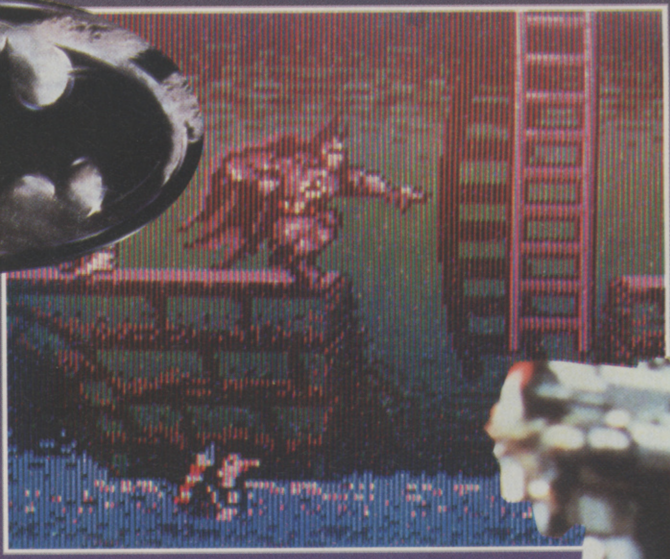


Anyone who owned an Apple II or Vectrex console way back in the early Eighties may have seen X before - it was released on both machines - but this version has been suitably spruced to kick it into the Nineties! We can't wait to get our hands on a finished copy of the game and bring you the only review worth reading - the Exclusive GO! Review!

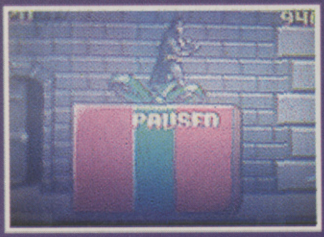
BATMAN RETURNS

The Dark Knight is back! Fresh from kicking seven shades out of the Joker in the original film, Bruce Wayne - better known as Batman - returns in the Lynx conversion of the movie sequel!

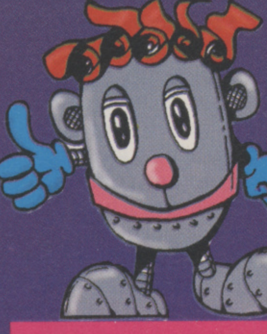
This time around, our man Bat is up against the combined might of Catwoman and The Penguin, in a multi-stage beat 'em up through the streets of Gotham City. Dodge and smack the baddies and take on the end-level bosses, picking up power along the way. Can you save Gotham from this new scourge? Go for it, Batman!



LYNX- £29.99



What the devil is a large giftbox doing, stuck in the middle of a Gotham City street? Batman will find out soon enough!



I'VE GOT THE POWER

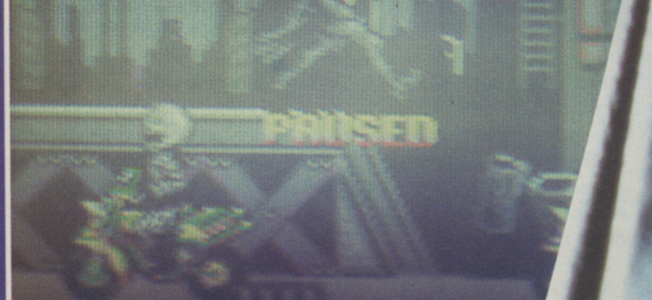
Dotted around the stages are different coloured Bat logos, each of which has a different use. The blue logos give Batman points, while the yellow ones increase his energy bar. The white Bat-sign, on the other hand, gives Mr Wayne extra Batarangs (he starts the game with twenty) and they're ultra-handy for wiping out enemies from a distance!

"The first thing you notice about Batman Returns is it's no pushover! Those reflexes will need to be firing on all cylinders to stand a chance of getting anywhere! It looks good, plays tough and will have you tearing at your hair each time you die - but you'll not tire of Batman Returns in a hurry."

FRANK O'CONNOR

BAT BADDIES

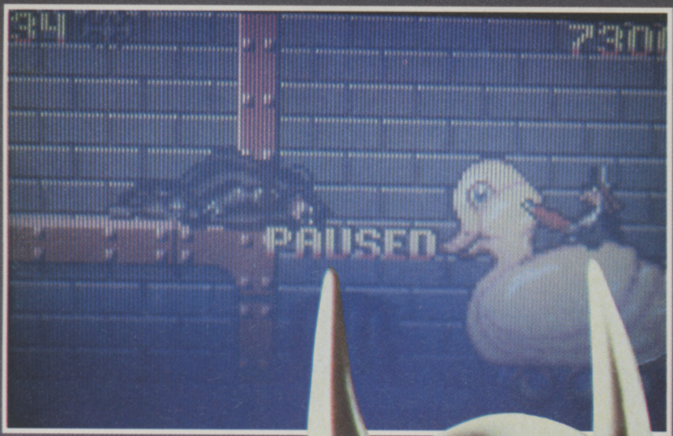
The baddies that Batman meets are not what you could call a pushover - they're hard as rocks and there's stacks of 'em, too! Like booby-trapped clowns who explode when you hit them, fat men using bombs as bowling balls, knife-throwing Injun maidens and even a stack of mad bikers who burst out of a giant prezzie box - and they're just on the first level!! After that, prepare to face gun-toting cops and an assortment of other unpleasant folk!



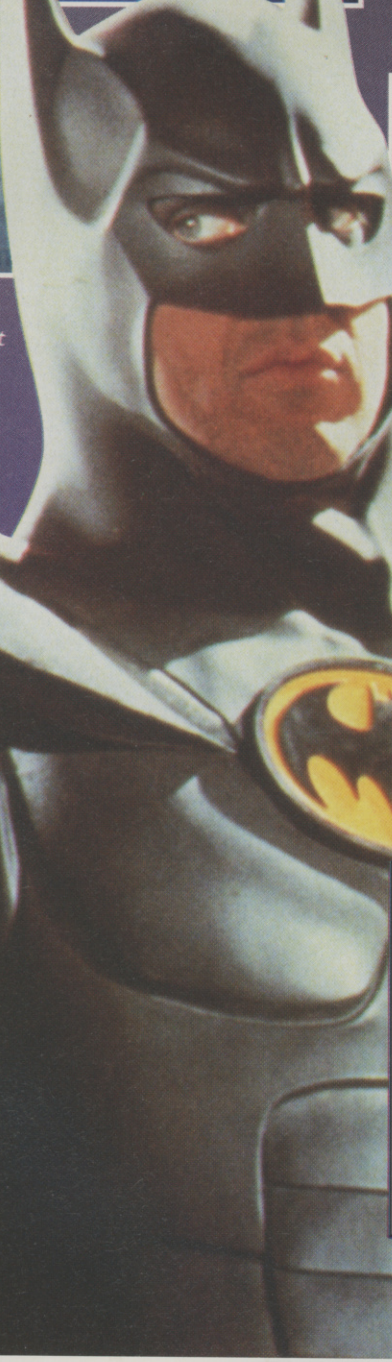
Why waste Batarangs on the bikers when you can just let 'em drive idly by? Because they'll come back and kill you, that's why!

MY WORD! THE MOVIE

Batman Returns should be opening at a cinema near you very shortly. Once again, it stars Michael Keaton as the superhero, but there's no Jack Nicholson as the Joker - the villains this time are played by short comedian Danny de Vito and gorgeous lovely Michelle Pfeiffer. They take the roles of The Penguin and Catwoman respectively and, from what we've heard, the sequel is supposed to be better than the first Batman movie - which we thought was a right load of old rubbish!



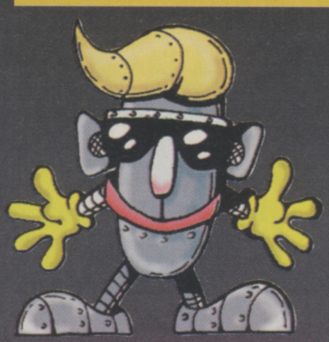
Not all presents are wanted - especially when it's a gang of mad bikers out to stop the Bat in his tracks!



It's a good idea to get out of the way after biffing this baddy - he's booby-trapped and blows up after a bit!

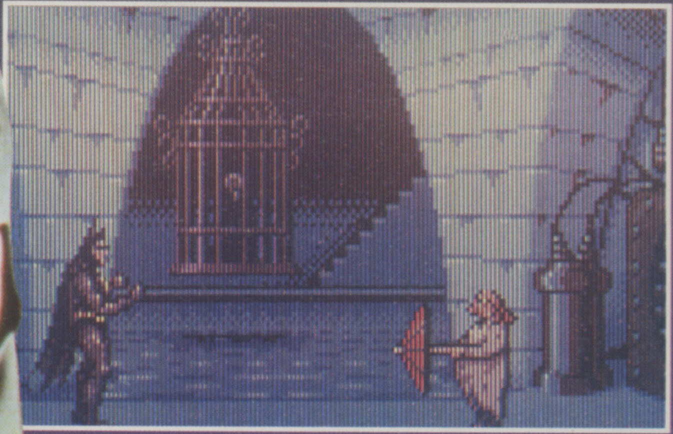
LOOK BEHIND THE LAMP POSTS

It's a good idea to look behind all of the foreground object as you traverse each dangerous level, as you never know what may be hiding there! There are power-ups-a-plenty tucked away behind the lamp-posts, as well as a cache of smart petrol bombs that wipe out baddies in a flash!



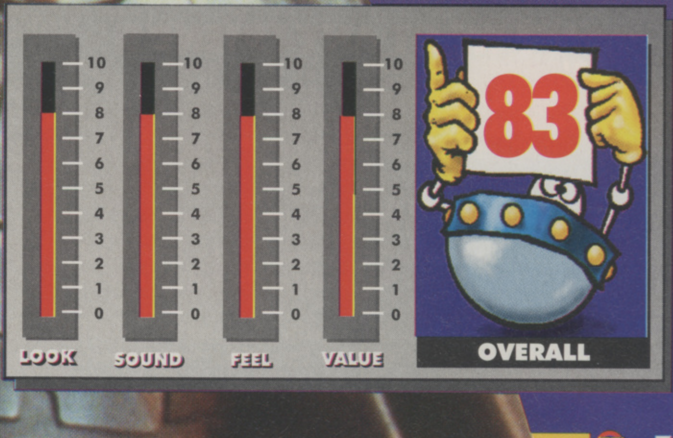
"Batman Returns in an extremely challenging beat 'em up! Great sprites - even though Batman's animation is dodgy when he runs - and massive levels full to bursting with dangerous nasties! If you're sick of easy games, Batman Returns should keep you more than amused for yonks!"

PAUL RAND



ABSOLUTELY QUACKERS!

One of the strangest sights you'll ever see in a hand-held game comes at the end of the first stage of Batman Returns - The Penguin, sitting in a mechanical duckling, throwing bombs and firing bullets at you! Just hurl those Batarangs at the duck's face and it explodes - but not before Penguin flies off on his helicopter umbrella, to fight another day!



MAILBAG

It's Summertime! The time of the year when hand-helds really come into their own! Bet you're all lying around on some sun-drenched beach, bashing away at your Boy, Gear, Lynx and GT! It's a wonder you can find the time to delve into GO! Mailbag in fact - but you do, and those letters and piccies are literally flooding in!

Got a point to get across? Stick it on a piece of paper and send it to us at: I'LL JOIN YOU DOWN BY THE POOL JUST AFTER I'VE PUT THE FINISHING TOUCHES TO A PIECE OF LITERARY GENIUS THAT'LL DOUBTLESS FIND ITS WAY INTO THE GO! MAILBAG, GO!, PRIORY COURT 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE, LONDON EC1R 3AU. Have fun!

I'M RATHER FOND OF MY BOY

Dear GO!,

I read the letters in this hell of a mag of yours and have read loads of letters about which hand-held is the best. So, I have decided to compile a totally unbiased list of my fave hand-helds and why I like them, starting with the best. So here goes:

GAME BOY - because it's wicked (I've got one, I should know).

GAME BOY - because the batteries last long enough to let you complete a game or two (Lynx owners take note!).

GAME BOY - it's much cheaper, more economical, has a better range of games and can still kick other hand-helds into the weeds!

GAME GEAR - well, it had to come in somewhere and it's the only one of the few competitors to present a challenge, even though it's a feeble one.

SAM NETSCHER,
Plumstead, London

PS Lynx is about as much use as a kangaroo on a pogo stick and is a waste of plastic that could have been used for something much more useful - like a toilet roll holder. Oh yeah, about that complete guide to hand-helds - smart idea! Keep up the good work.

It's always refreshing to read a balanced opinion, isn't it.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS

Dear GO!,

Ever since the hand-helds came out I've wanted one but I wasn't allowed to have one because Mum said 'You already have a computer.' But I kept on begging and now she has finally given in and is letting me buy one myself. I've been saving for ages and now I can afford one, but there is one big problem - I don't know which type to get! I keep on buying CVG just to get mega-cool GO! to see if I can find the best one, but it is just too tight between Game Boy and Game Gear. if you were me which one would you choose? Please tell me - I'm desperate!

AOIFE LACEY,
Luxembourg

PS In the last issue, Simon Murphy said that no girls ever write in or are even interested in hand-helds. Well here's one!!

I DON'T WANT ANY FRIENDS

Dear GO!,

I was just reading issue eight when I said to myself 'Ah good, lots of thickos to laugh at.' Like Stephen Calcott - what an Ernie! He seems to think that Sega can't compete with Nintendo. He is right - Sega haven't been competing with Nintendo, they've been kicking Nintendo's ass!

Bruce Biscoe wanted to know why Lynx owners cuss down the Game Boy. Simple answer - because Game Boy's are crap! Then he goes on to say the Lynx has good graphics. Blind as well as thick are you?

Lastly, Robert Preston; I mean, how much will a Game Plus cost! I know it was a good joke, but you really didn't believe it, did you? Div of the decade!

That's my insulting over with. Now, can you tell me if or when Sonic 2 will be coming out?

TOM FRENCH
Address supplied

We have Tom's address, but felt it our duty not to print it - we have the safety of our readers to consider, you know!

SO TELL ME, GRAYSON...

Dear GO!,

I have a few questions to ask:

1. What is the best hand-held?
2. Will WWF come out on Lynx or Game Gear?
3. Will a TV adaptor come out on Lynx or Game Boy?
4. Are there any NFL games on Lynx?
5. Is Pitfighter any good on Lynx?
6. Could Smash TV come out on a hand-held?

I have not got a hand-held, so could you please send me a hand-held and a decent game please?

MARK POLLARD,
Greenock, Scotland

1. They're all completely brilliant. 2. No. 3. No. 4. There's an American Footy game on the way, but in the meantime you could try Tournament Cyberball. 5. You'll just have to wait for the GO! Review to find out, won't you. 6. Yes, it's coming soon on Game Gear. And no, you can't.

NOT VERY HAPPY, THIS ONE

Dear GO!,

Yes, your mag is brill. However, could you help me? I've got a Game Gear and I'm stuck on level three - The Wall. I can't kill it. Please could you write a tip or cheat to help a poor sole like me. Long live Game Gears!

PHIL,
Leeds

We'd be more than happy to help you, but sadly can't because you've been a particularly sad case and forgotten to tell us which game you need assistance with. Dur.

I LUV MY LYNX

Dear GO!,

I own a Lynx and a Game Gear. I prefer the Lynx to the Sega machine because of the better 16-bit graphics, the better sound, the unbelievable speed and the games are better on the Lynx. The Game Gear is better for portability and is a good hand-held machine which I use quite often, but not as much as the Lynx.

Then we come to the Game Boy. I can't see how anybody can prefer this to any other hand-held. It's got crap graphics, crap sound and can go about as fast as a tortoise and every other game is a platform! Face it, Game Boy owners, you would have been much better off with a colour hand-held.

Anyway, here are my questions:

1. When will Lemmings, Shadow Of The Beast and Eye Of The Beholder be coming out for the Lynx?

2. Is Toki any good on the Lynx?

3. Is it true that Two Crude Dudes has come out for the Game Boy?

MATTHEW ADAMS,
Woodbridge, Suffolk

1. Soonish. 2. Yes, it's a right treat. 3. Not as far as we know.

BUT I LUV MY GAME BOY

Dear GO!,

I love GO!, and think that the Game Boy is the best hand-held because it will be going colour in the future and its range of games is unbeatable. But Game Gear comes a close second because of the TV adaptor, colour and Sonic. I'm in love with Sonic so a Game Gear is what I will hopefully get one day. How many girls actually do write to you?

KATHRYN FAIRBROTHER,
Portsmouth, Hants

PS Why are Lynx's so crap?

We get loads of girls writing to GO!, which just goes to show that the hand-held world truly is a laff for everyone!

WE DON'T WANT YOUR SORT ROUND HERE

Dear GO!,

I'm here to complain. Not about your excellent, unbeatable, totally wicked mag, but about Nintendo.

Why release the Colour Boy when the Game Boy already beats the Lynx and GG? The resolution is 320x244 and battery life is ten hours and over. Game Boys are so portable you can juggle ten at a time (don't try it at home, kids). So if you have any access to Mr Nintendo (or whoever he is, tell him millions will be happy. Imagine the people with Game Boys when the Colour Boy arrives because the games are not compatible.

Oh, by the way, could you do a review on Hook? Anyway, gotta GO!

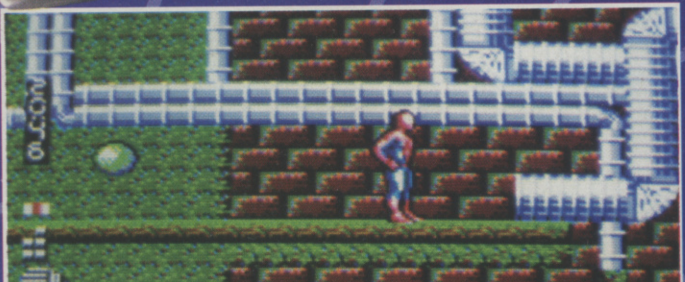
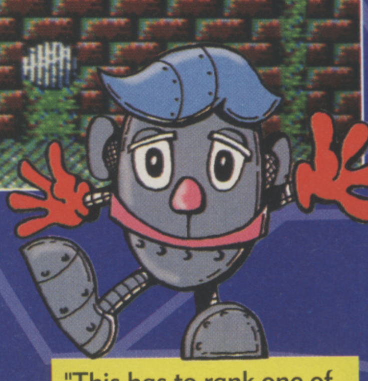
SPIDER-

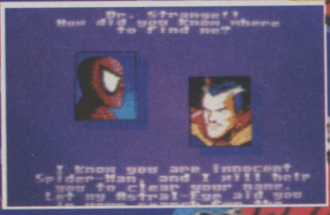
The number one crime boss of New York, Kingpin, has hatched his most dastardly scheme yet! He's planted a massive time-bomb, set to go off in twenty-four hours - and he's told the world that The Amazing Spiderman is the culprit! If the device explodes, it's curtains for the Big Apple and goodbye to Spidey's career as a superhero. Finding a bomb in a city is like finding a needle in a haystack, and with only a day to track it down, the web-slinger's gonna have to have to work fast to stop New York lighting up like a candle! Get to it, Spidey - your reputation depends on your success!

GAMEGEAR - £29.99



Somewhere around here is The Lizard - and a big pit trap!





Dr. Strange!!
How did you know where to find me?

I know you are innocent
Spider-Man, and I will help you to clear your name.
Let my Astral-Eye aid you

Oh look, it's Doctor Strange - hello Doctor Strange! He's great, he is.

SPIDEY STAGES!

Swing your way through eight stages, each representing an area of New York. Start at the offices of The Daily Bugle, then make your way to the Waterfront Warehouse. From there, it's on to the City Sewers and a swift hop to the Power Station, before moving on to Central Park. Next, take a trip to Manhattan and delve down into the Subterranean Cavern. After all that, can even Spiderman take on the mighty Kingpin in his Penthouse? It's up to you!

> "This has to rank one of the best Game Gear laffs yet seen! It may be outrageously tough, but the urge to keep battling away will keep you slinging web right to the end! Definitely a winner. Buy it! "
> TIM BOONE

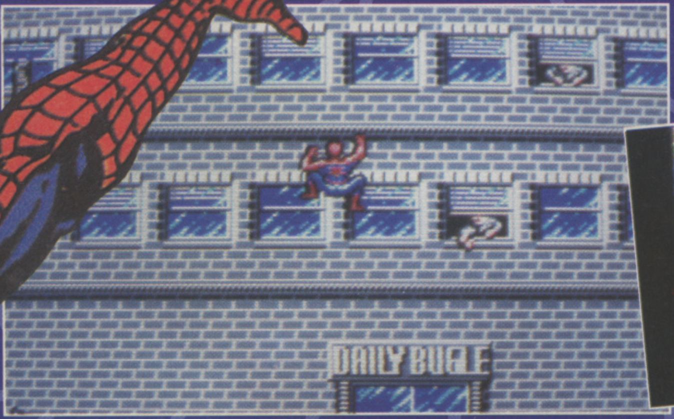
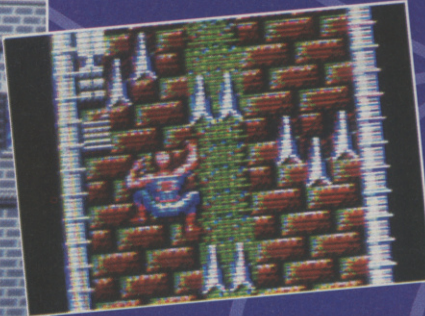
SPIDEY SNAPS!

The production of web-fluid isn't cheap - $250 a cartridge in fact! Luckily, Spiderman can rake in a bit of cash by reverting to his daytime personality of Peter Parker - photographer at The Daily Bugle. The editor, Robbie Robinson, will pay $250 for Petey's first photo of a Super-Villain, and five bucks for each additional snap!

MAN

Spiderman is in a bit of a dilemma - shall he go off and do in some baddies, or just hang about and look at this smart machine? Decisions, decisions...





"Spiderman is a stunning title that'll astound anyone who plugs in and starts playing! Very difficult, with terrific sprites - especially the wicked Spidey himself! An absolute must-buy for anyone serious about rock-hard playing on the Gear!"

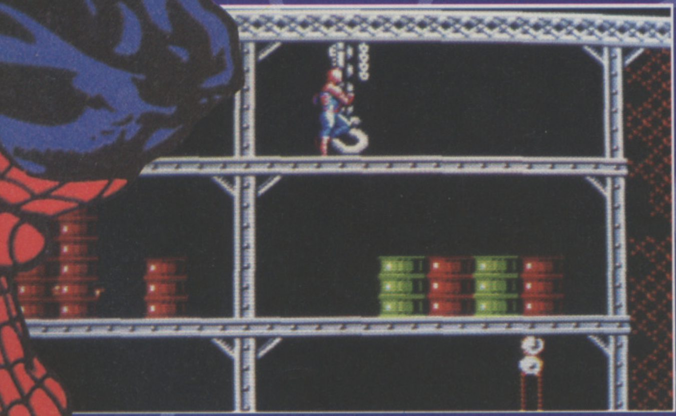
PAUL RAND

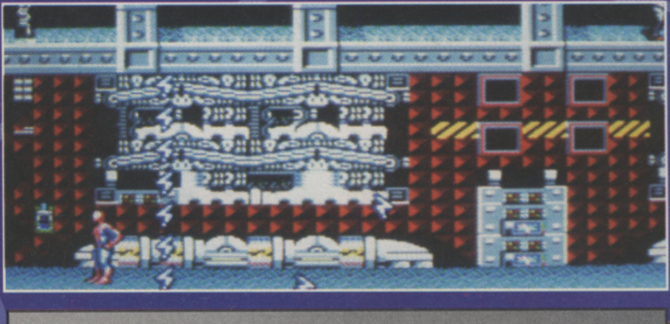
SPIDEY SUPER-BADDIES!

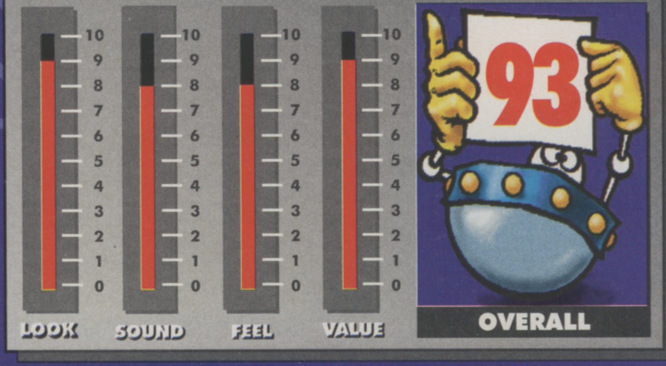
The Kingpin has enlisted the world's top super-villains to aid in his destruction of Spiderman. Doctor Octopus uses his metallic tentacles to ensure Spidey's wrapped up for a while, while The Lizard, once a pal of the web-slinger, gets the opportunity to put paid to his ex-chum. Electro will give his arch-enemy a shocking time thanks to his lightning bolts, and The Sandman will, erm, turn into sand! Spiderman can't rest on his laurels though, because then he'll have to tussle with the Hobgoblin and Venom - and he hasn't even taken on Kingpin yet!

SPIDEY SKILLS!

To thwart the Kingpin's scheme, old web-head's going to have to use all of his Spidey skills! Spiderman can cling to walls to avoid enemies, fire shots of special web-fluid strong enough to swing from or entangle baddies in. And, of course, there's the Spidey Sense, which warns of any super-villains in the immediate vicinity!

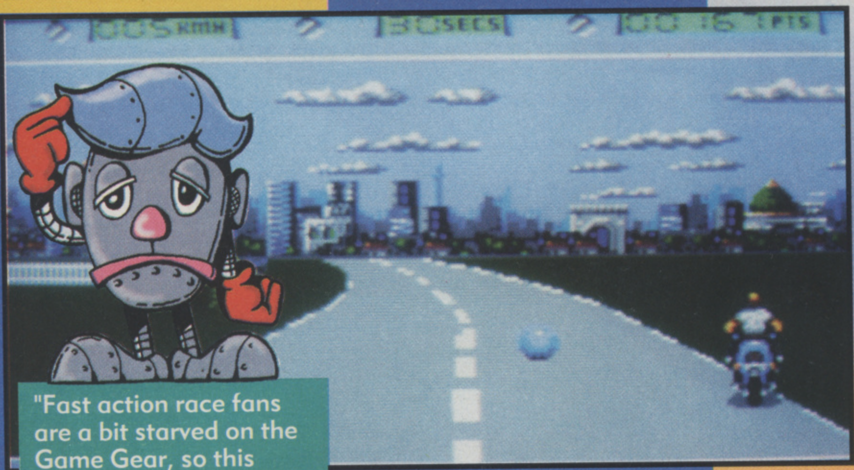




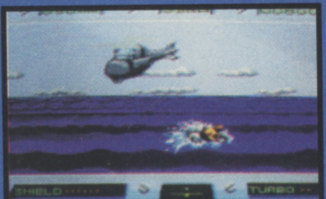


SPIDEY ON CELLULOID

If you haven't had your fill of the Amazing Spiderman, or simply want to see a Spidey film that's not as crap as the two that starred Nicholas Hammond ten years or so back, then keep your eyes open for news of the new Spiderman movie coming 'soon'! There's very little details as yet, but apparently it's costing somewhere in the region of $50million, stars Michael Beihn (of Terminator and Aliens fame) as the web-slinger himself and - guess what - none other than Arnold Schwarzenegger as Super-Villain Doctor Octopus! Jumpin' Jehosophat!!



"Fast action race fans are a bit starved on the Game Gear, so this game is a welcome shot in the arm. With plenty to see and high speed thrills, this cart is quite a good laugh if you're after a burn."
TIM BOONE



Forget idly driving around the States in your swanky Ferrari - this time round there's a job to be done! You're a secret agent in the unfortunate position of having a load of classified documents nicked from the boot of your motor - and you'll have to get them back before they're passed on to a top criminal organisation! The thieves are making their way across Europe, and you've got to follow them in a variety of vehicles, from Dover to Calais and beyond!

So jump into that fast car, speedboat or jetbike and get ready for the ride of your life in this original sequel to the Out Run series. It's 3D action all the way as you chase the baddies around the continent, in a race against time and The Other Side!

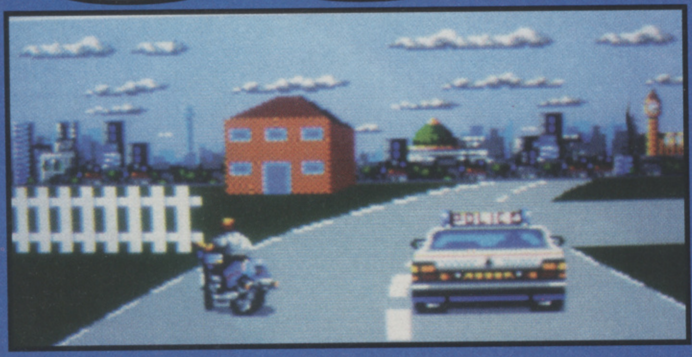
OUTRUN



Oh no, it's the rozzers! If you can't bash the bobbies off the road, you're gonna have to put your foot to the floor and get outta there!

I WANNA GO TO EURODISNEY!

No need to go abroad for your hols this year! Just plug in the Outrun Europa cart and see the sights of Europe on your Game Gear! Toddle off down to the South Coast on a motorbike! Cross the English Channel on a smart jetbike! Race through Spain in a well-wicked Porsche! Don't forget to take your suncream though - it's hot out there!

TAKE THAT, YOU FIEND

It's great, speeding along on a powerful motorbike - except when half the country's criminal element is trying to do you in! Luckily, you're a strong feller, and you can punch them off the road! Strangely though, when they're defeated, the baddies explode - are their vehicles packed with explosives or what?

NOT THE SORT WHO BULLIES YOU AT SCHOOL

Included in the transportation that your agent gets hold of is a handy little device that should cut down the wear and tear on those expensive vehicles - it's a tracking monitor that shows the position of anything in the immediate vicinity. At the very least, it should stop you getting nicked for speeding!

SLIGHTLY RIPPLED WITH A FLAT UNDERSIDE

Turbo boost can be a real boon when it comes to getting away from criminals at high-speed and, lo and behold, some silly soul has left a load of them scattered on the road. The boost lasts for only a short time, but it leaves the opposition choking in your dust.

EUROPA

KEEP YOUR STRENGTH UP

The enemy will be trying to run you off the road, or send you sploshing into the sea, at every opportunity. Each time the baddies come into contact with you, an amount of energy is lost. Picking up special shield icons, however, adds to the strength of your boat/car/bike, so be sure to pick up as many as you can!

HOOK'S HEAD HONCHOS

Each level boasts its own particular brand of baddy. In the Forest, be sure to encounter Snakes and Monkeys, while Pirate Ghosts and Dragons inhabit the Underground stage. Underwater enemies include Submerged Pirates and Jellyfish, and the dreaded Icy Region hides Pirate Eskimos and The Abominable Snowman!

WRESTLE WITH RUFIO

When Peter was a young lad in Neverland, he used to play with the Lost Boys. No, not the vampire ones, but the nice Lost Boys. Anyway, the leader of the Boys, Rufio, has a magic sword which Peter needs to defeat Hook - and the only way to get it is to gain Rufio's respect - by beating him up. What are we trying to teach our children?

PICK 'EM UP, PETE!

To help Peter in his quest to find his kids, he can pick up and use items such as magic marbles which let him float in the air, metal detectors to uncover hidden treasure and food that tops up Peter's flagging energy. On each, level, certain objects are required to move on to the next stage - but you're 'ard so find 'em!

Hook

It's a long, long time since Peter Banning was in Neverland. So long, in fact, that he can't even remember being there under his previous name - Peter Pan! All that changes, however, when the despicable Captain Hook returns to steal away Peter's children. The time has come to travel back to Neverland, rescue the kids and defeat Hook in the Game Boy version of the Steven Spielberg spectacular! The fate of your family is in your hands!

WIN A LYNX WE'RE GIVING AWAY FIVE!

COURTESY OF KODAK AND XTRALIFE BATTERIES

OK, so you're battling away against Doctor Robotnik on Sonic or you're trying for the big one on Tetris and suddenly the sound goes screwy, the picture fades and you're right out of the picture - the batteries have run out! Been there, done that - you've seen it before!

What you need are batteries which put new life into your hand-held, don't fade away when the going gets tough and mess up the environment less when you chuck them out. OK boyo, so where do I get those then? Kodak say they've got the answer!

They've come up with a full power battery called the XTRALIFE, which not only last a heck of a lot longer than you're used to, but they're kind to the environment as well! Basically, these little babies don't use any added mercury or cadmium - both well bad for the greenery - and still pack a hell of a punch!

Naturally Kodak are well proud of this achievment, and to celebrate they've snapped up their copy of GO! and weighed in with a stonkalicious competition to give away FIVE Atari Lynx hand-helds to the winners and ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY free packs of batteries (worth £3.20 each) to the runners up!

So what do you have to do to waltz away with your very own loverly Lynx or a free set of the tastiest little power packs around? It's simple - we want you to design your very own hand-held machine and bowl us over with it's brilliance! Your creation should be as slick as possible, use Kodak batteries and - like these batteries - pack a hell of a punch! Don't worry if you can't draw - you can just send in a description of your machine and if it's good enough, you'll win!

So grab your gear, come up with a hand-held to wow the world and fire off your entry to: INCREDIBLE KODAK COMPETITION, GO!, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE, LONDON EC1R 3AU. Make sure it gets to us by June 10, 'cos that's when we'll be judging all the entries and handing out those hand-helds!

Kodak
XTRALIFE

Here we are in Tiddlytype Land and there's not much room so all I can say is all the usual CVG and GO! competition rules apply so don't enter if you're anothing to do with Kodak or EMAP Images or we'll get all upset. Other than that you can enter as many times as you like (and you flippin' well ought to because the Lynx is a damn decent hand-held) but the Editor's decision is final so don't whinge if you don't win because it won't make any difference and we'll just have a good old laugh at your expense...

WIN! £500 FREE GAMES!

We've got a grand total of FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS worth of games to give away to the five spawny winners pulled out of Frank O'Connor's true stories hat - and it could be YOU! This is the place you get to have your say about the hottest mag on the planet - telling us everything you like, everything you don't like and how we can make GO! even better! JACK NICKLAUS GOLF

They call him The Bear. Probably the most famous and successful golfer of all time, Jack Nicklaus comes to the Game Boy to take the lucky player around four of his favourite courses for a spot of tee. So pick up your clubs and get out and around those eighteen holes, playing for either points or, to make things a little more interesting, wads and wads of hard cash!

SOME ARE HOT - SOME ARE NOT

There are nine different Game Boy controlled golfers to play against, some good, some bad. Beginners can take on the rather unfortunate Curly O, who's just started playing and can't hit a straight ball for toffee. Or, if you're feeling lucky (or stupid) test your skills against The Bear himself - and probably be very embarrassed as he whoops you on every hole!

"There isn't a lot of golfing action to be had on the Game Boy, so Jack Nicklaus certainly comes up trumps in the filling-a-gap department. The game looks a bit like PGA Tour on other machines, which is no bad thing as that's excellent. You should have more than enough fun having a round or two with Jack Nicklaus Golf!"

PAUL RAND

HORSES FOR COURSES

Our man Jack can strut his funky golfing stuff over four different courses, each with their own hazards. Tee off from the mountain course of Castle Pines, Desert Mountain which is, surprise surprise, in the desert, or the lush parkland of Muirfield Village. Alternatively, take on the test of Jack's Greatest - a collection of eighteen of Nicklaus' favourite holes.

PLAY OUT OF YOUR SKIN

You can earn a hefty bit of wedge from this golfing lark - and Mr Nicklaus is no exception. Rounds can be played for points or 'skins'; a skin being an amount of money or some other prize given to the winner of a hole. If a hole is not won outright, then the amount of money or prize is added on to the next hole.

GAME BOY

DRAGON'S LAIR

What a nice bunch those Elite chaps are! They've only gone and given us the complete solution for their great Game Boy conversion of the laser-disk coin-op! Here's the first section - part two will be winging its merry way unto you next ish!

1. The first screen has routes both to the left and right, but it is advisable to go left first. To get there you must move left, avoiding the spikes on the ground. To do this, use the rotating platforms. Stand on the toadstool next to the spikes and jump upwards, landing on a platform. If you miss, simply keep jumping until you succeed. Keep to the left of the platform or you will be knocked off by the platform at the top of the screen. As you move over the top, jump left to land on the adjacent platform, then move left onto the next screen.

2. Here you will see the crystals required along the top in each of the tree houses. To get to the right-hand crystal you must climb the tree by jumping upwards in the branches. For the other two crystals, use the floating acorn. Stand on the post to the right and jump upwards to land on an acorn, which will take you round close to the crystals. You will have to jump from the acorn and land on the tree platform, then jump back onto the acorns to get the next crystal and make it to the left side of the screen. Exit down the hole on the left-hand side.

3. On this screen is a similar arrangement with birds. Jump onto the birds and these will take you round to get to the two lower crystals. For the upper crystals, jump upwards and land on the cones. These will not kill you instantly but will kill you if you stand on them for too long, so jump off, back onto another bird as soon as possible. Exit the screen to the right.

4. The first crystal on this screen is at the bottom-left corner, under the sign. Stand underneath the sign next to the spikes and, when the hare comes close, jump onto it. This will take you across to the crystal. Jump upwards to get the crystal and land on the sign.

The other crystals are in the air and you must use the rotating arrows to get to these. Stand on the right edge of the sign and jump upwards onto an arrow. When you get near a crystal, jump off to reach it. Repeat this for all the crystals, then move right to exit.

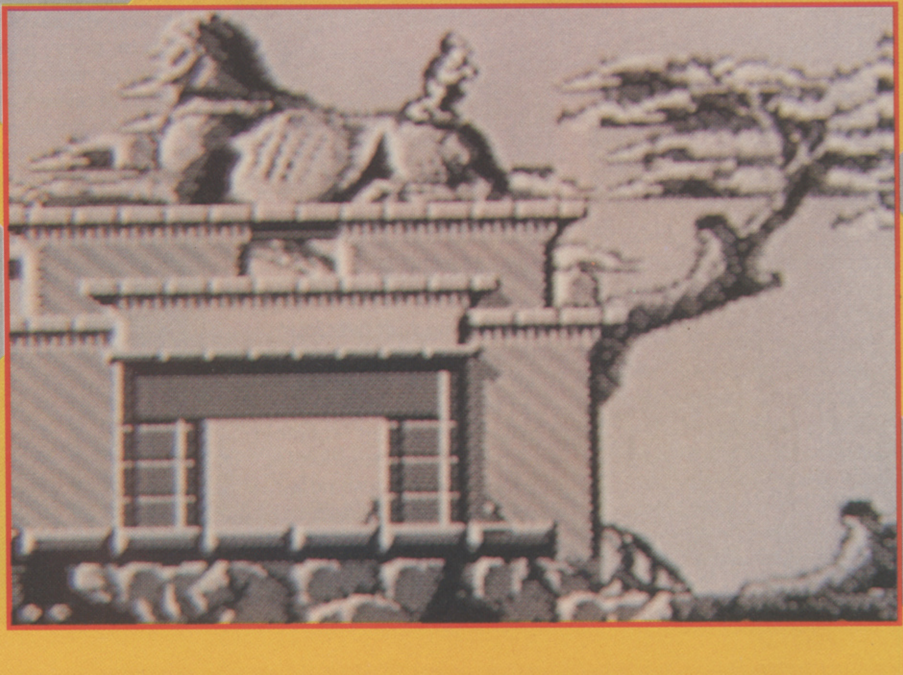
5. Here are another set of arrows and you use the same technique as before to get these crystals.

There is also another crystal on the spikes and as before, jump onto the hare to get at this. You can reach the hare by standing on the mound above the spikes and stepping off onto it.

6. To get to the right of this screen you must first use the floating arrow moving left to right. To get onto this, climb up the tree on the left-hand side, then jump upwards onto the arrow. Jump off again at the other side. Climb down on the right-hand side and jump onto the mining cart. This will start to move and take you into the mine. Here, there are many crystals above the track. To get to these, jump upwards and forwards, collect the crystal then land back on the cart. Do not land on the track or it will kill you. If you miss any crystals, do not worry; as soon as the cart comes to the end of the track it will return back along the same route and all remaining crystals can be collected on the return journey.

7. When you get to the end of the track, jump off before the cart starts to move backwards and be sure to avoid the large spike, moving up and down, then walk right along the bottom to the next screen.

8 At the bottom-left corner of this screen, you can see some flowers rotating around a crystal. You must use the flowers to get the crystal as with the birds earlier on. To get onto a flower, stand to the immediate



LYNX

PACLAND

Make getting young Pac back with his pack a little less hazardous with the help of a fine 'n' groovy cheat from David Lancaster of Southport, Merseyside - dee do do don't dey. When you get a high score, enter the code 330NE, to restart the game with ten extra lives.

ZALOR MERCENARY

He's back! He's bad! He's Wavy Davy Lancaster, with a rad cheat for Zalor Mercenary. On the character selection screen hold down OPTION 1 and move the joypad UP, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT and UP for extra life hilarity and japes.

BILL AND TED'S EXCELLENT ADVENTURE

We gave Game Boy owners the codes to every level of the game starring those excellent people Bill and Ted last month - this time round, it's the turn of Lynx fans to get the gear, and all thanks go to Ian Rendall from Yeovil in Somerset!

left of the water, but be careful not to fall in, and jump upwards when a flower comes round. If you fail to land on a flower, it will bring you round to get the crystal. After getting the crystal, jump off to the right.

Climb to the top of the brick turret on the left and stand on top. You will see a bar moving up and down with a crystal above it. When the bar comes up, just as it reaches the peak, jump right onto it and then move to the right. Just before you come to the sharp object below the crystal, jump up and right again. You should miss the sharp object and collect the crystal. Upon landing, move right again and jump onto the right-hand turret. Then move right again to exit.

9. Here you will see more acorns rotating above a stretch of water, with crystals suspended in the air above them. The technique for these is exactly the same as the acorns dealt with in point 2.

Once you have these crystals, climb the tree to the right to get the last crystal on this screen. Then exit to the left.

10. Here you will see some crystals that you missed earlier. Floating around them are some leaves. By using the same technique as with the arrows, they should be easy to get.

Now you have explored all of the lower portion of the game map and must return to the start screen to explore the upper portion. To get back to the start screen, use exactly the same techniques as before but in reverse order. Remember to get any crystals which you missed out earlier.

Change this number by using UP and DOWN to the number of the level you wish to attempt, then press START.

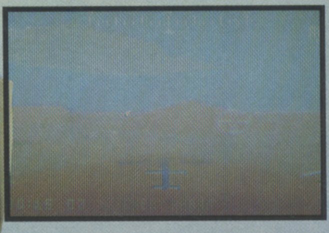
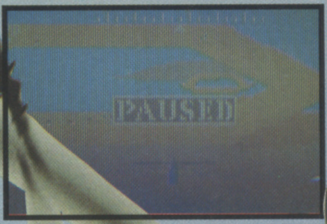
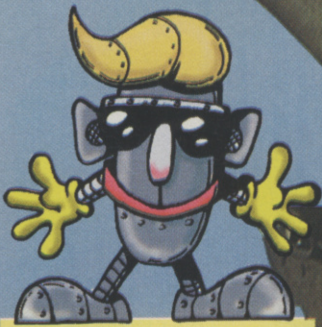
STEEL TALONS





The enemy is closing in and only one man can thwart the onslaught! So get ready to buzz the baddies in Steel Talons, a conversion of the Atari coin-op that caused a storm in arcades across the country last year. The player pilots a rock hard battle chopper in a variety of missions that will push both man and machine to the pinnacle of their abilities. Get around each mission in the time allotted and you can move onto the next, more difficult battle. Only the most accomplished pilots get right to the end and collect a horde of medals and praise - can you be one of those few? Go for it!

LYNX- £29.99

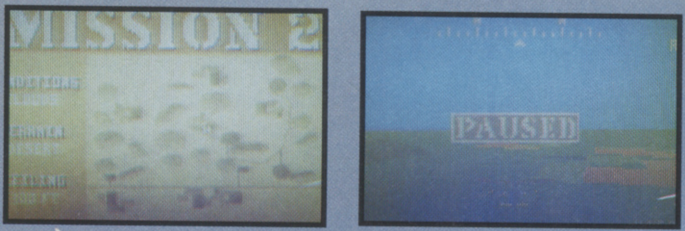


"Steel Talons was a hoot in the arcades and Atari's own Lynx conversion is a very accurate reproduction of the game. The polygons are slower, but that doesn't detract from the fast-paced action. The screenshots really don't do this game justice - Steel Talons is great you'd be off your rocker to miss out on."

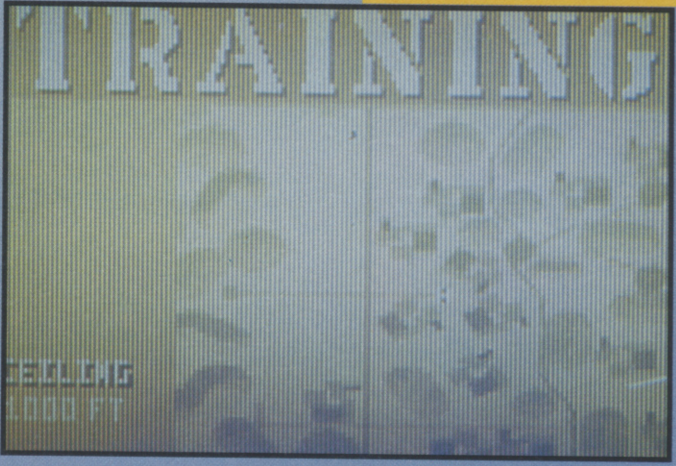
PAUL RAND

WHO'S GOT A TOPPER CHOPPER?

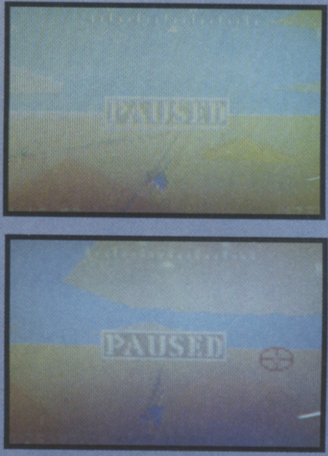
The helicopter in the telly series Blue Thunder was quite hard, but didn't match the well-wicked antics of Stringfellow Hawk's fab and groovy Airwolf. Mike Smith wasn't terribly wicked in his chopper - he was a sad man who crashed and broke his bones. Royalty and helicopters go hand-in-hand, thanks to the naval antics of Prince Andrew - and large swindler Robert Maxwell had a helicopter too - but it isn't much use to him now.



It's blasting all the way in Steel Talons - get out there and do your thing!



Not too hot at flying and frying? You'd better get some training in then!



THE AGE OF THE TRAIN

This flying around, blasting hell out of baddies lark is tough, you know, and not everybody can be an ace flyboy first time round. So it's a good job that there's a training mission to tackle, that has you swooping through gates and shooting practice enemies before going out and trying your new-found skills on the real thing!

You've checked the radar for baddies in the area - now go and put a large hole in them.

MISSION 1
PAUSED

04 ENEMY TARGETS

WHAT? NO WEAPONS!

Some helicopter! The chopper you control is a bit sad in the weapons department, having only a measly machine gun with which to destroy the enemy. Still, it does the job - after a while - and anyway, with all the whizzing around you'll be doing, it would be impossible to target missiles effectively.

I thought Steel Talons was a tip-top coin-op, and this Lynx conversion is of the highest quality. Frame update is a little on the slow side, but that doesn't detract from the action which will have your palms sweating profusely! One of the best things to happen to the little Atari for quite some time!

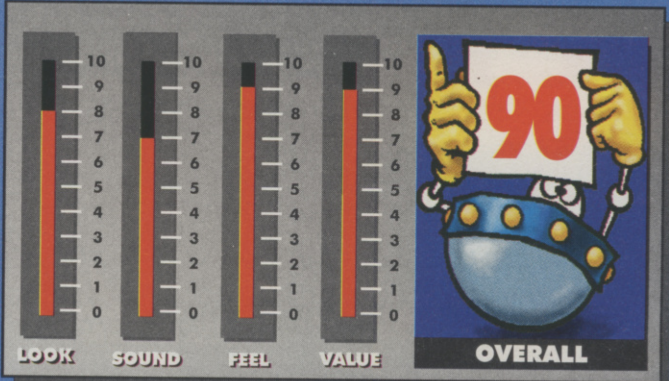
FRANK O'CONNOR

GO ALL AROUND THE WORLD - AND SHOOT PEOPLE

To start with, the player can only select one of three missions - desert, grassland and the trainer. Complete these and a further twelve levels are simply itching to be tackled, in regions throughout the world. And if you think they're going to be a pushover, think again - because they're all quite a trial, as it happens.

TIME FOR A RIGHT GOOD BLAST

It's all well and good tootling around the levels at a leisurely pace, popping off baddies left, right and centre, but that's not a very good idea in Steel Talons because each mission has a time limit attached to it - and if you exceed the time allowed, you fail and have to go right back and do it all again; but faster.

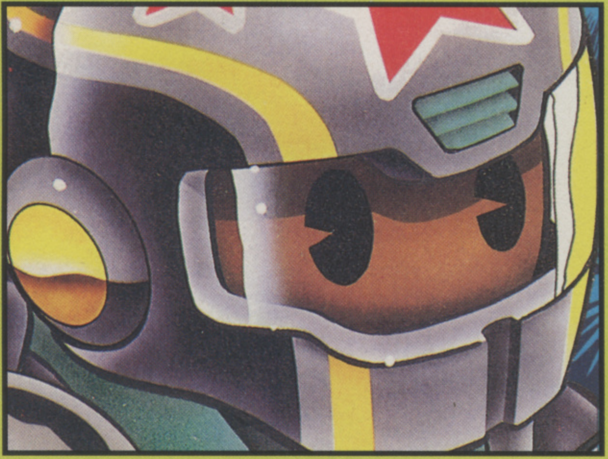


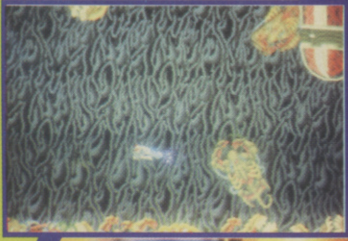
THE TOP TEN

It's the Rolls Royce of the hand-held world - the PC Engine GT. Available on import only, it costs a whacking £250 - but you certainly get what you pay for! With total compatibility between the GT and it's stand-alone daddy, the PC Engine, you're not going to be starved of carts - here's FRANK O'CONNOR with his pick of the bunch!

BOMBER MAN

Frustratingly simple gameplay as you guide Bomber Man around a maze. The object is simple; destroy all the baddies, or reach the exit safely. You have bombs to help you clear each maze, but these can harm as well as help if placed incorrectly. Bomber Man is one of those games which has you desperately trying to reach that next, elusive level. Oh, just one more go, please...





GRADIUS

Known as Nemesis in British arcades, this was the first game to make proper use of extra weapons. You pilot a starship through an alien-infested world, blasting frantically at anything you see. Your weapon choices cycle as you collect tokens, so choosing the right weapon is vital. Again, the small screen makes weapon selection initially tricky, but you'll soon figure it out. A true classic.

R-TYPE

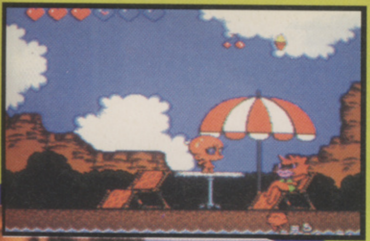
The first four levels of R-Type are a lot easier than the last four, but this is a must-have for fans of the coin-op. Includes all the weapons such as the reflecting and ripple lasers as well as the brilliant dead 'ard multiples. Four levels may not sound much, but they are hard and you might even find the secret hidden level. Look out for it - R-Type is hard to get hold of these days!

R-TYPE 2

The last four levels of Irem's classic coin-op, identical down to the last pixel. Great fun as you soar through the Bydo Empire, turning it into a wasteland of laser-guided death. Not much to think about but plenty to blast, this game boasts some of the best graphics yet seen on the GT and is immensely close to its arcade parent.

IMAGE FIGHT

A spot-on conversion of a brilliant coin-op which sadly didn't do great guns in the arcades/ It looks a bit like Gunhed, but the weapons and baddies are all totally different. Graphically it's all very pretty, but it's playability that counts and Image Fight has oodles of it. Fly up the screen and destroy absolutely everything! Brilliant stuff!

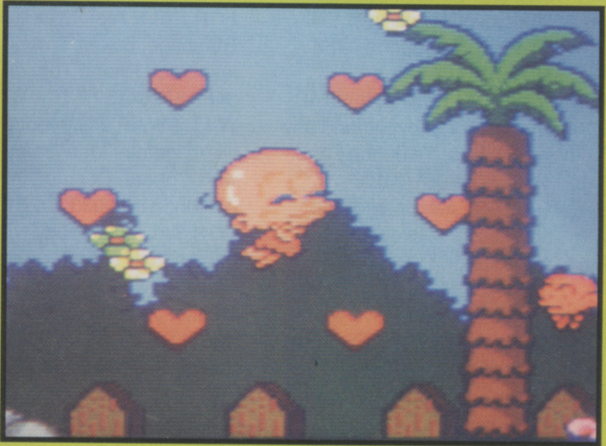


PC KID 2

The sequel to one of the biggest, brightest and best platform romps ever. You play the part of Bonk, the PC Kid as he romps through a danger-filled prehistoric world in search of love and kebabs. Graphics are amazing, sound is stupendous and the scope enormous. This, dare I say it, is one of the best video games available on any hand-held ever - go out and buy it now!

PC KID

PC Kid took the PC Engine world by storm, with its unbeatable mixture of mind blowing graphics and brilliant gameplay. Hidden screens, secret bonuses and the incredible charm of the main character make this one to beat. It's an outrageously funny game as you guide the little slap-head baldy around the land of the dinosaurs. It looks good, feels good and by Golly it does you good.

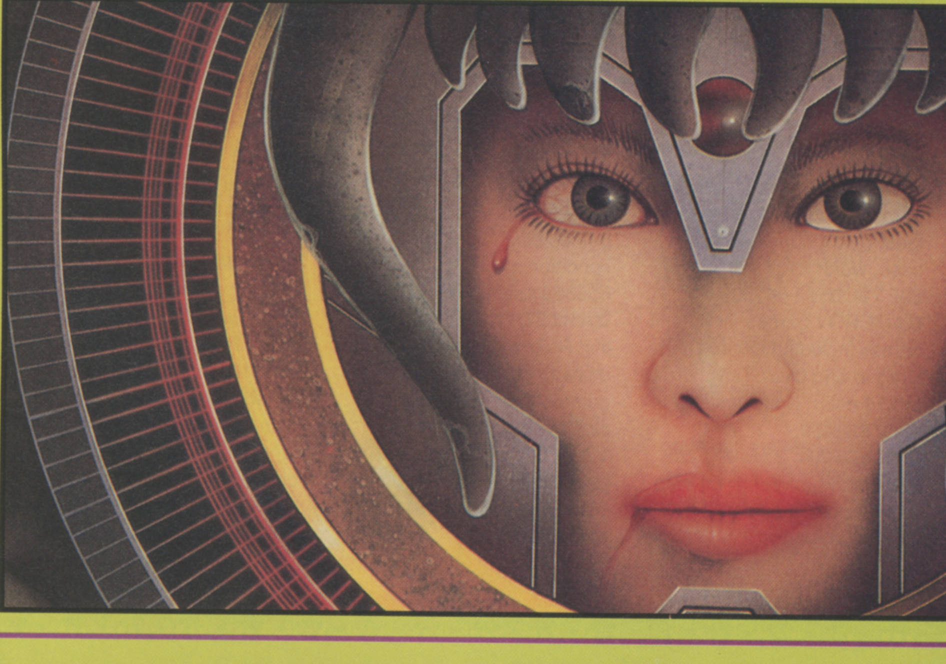


GUNHED

Easily the best shoot 'em up on the GT, this is a brilliant vertical shooter in the mould of that old classic Star Force. Tons of weapons to pick up and the biggest baddest baddies you'll ever see. The small screen makes things difficult, but it only adds to the challenge. Tough yet gratifying, this is a real beauty!

FINAL MATCH TENNIS

You've heard about Super Tennis on the Super Nintendo? Well this is the GT version - and what a corker it is. Simple tennis action, combined with dreamy graphics and awesome sound, make this a compulsive thrash. Great against the computer, outstanding in two player mode. A real must for tennis fans!



DEVIL CRASH

For my money this is the best computer pinball sim ever. You'd be surprised at how well it works on the tiny GT screen. , with all the standard features of a pinball game - bumpers, flippers and multipliers, as well as a range of hidden options and bonus screens. Massively addictive stuff and a must-buy!

THE

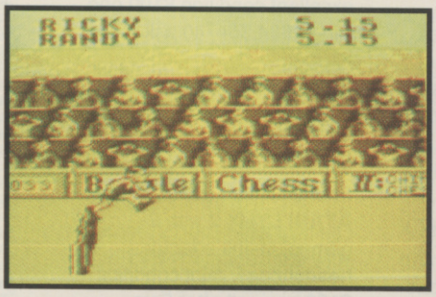
LYNX - £29.99

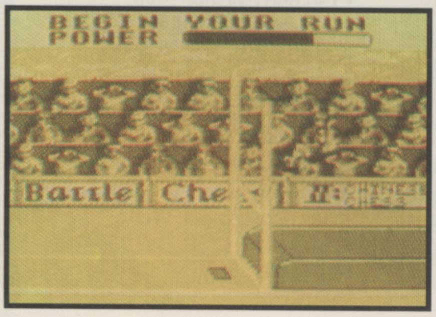
When Psygnosis released Shadow Of The Beast on the Amiga some four years ago, it probably did more for sales of Commodore's machine than Commodore themselves! Superlative graphics, multi-layer parallax scrolling and unbelievable sound and music showed exactly what the Amiga could do - and now the game is at long last coming to the Lynx!

The plot revolves around The Beast. That's the character you'll control, except he didn't start life as a beast. He used to be a normal bloke, until he dared to cross swords with The Dark Lord. The big, bad, dark one wasn't best pleased with our hero, so he turned him into this horrible thing - and that's where the game starts.

Lynx Shadow Of The Beast looks to be an almost perfect reproduction of the original. The graphics are there, including the great animation of the main character; the programmers have got the brilliant parallax in as well - and it looks absolutely amazing on the little Lynx screen. What we've yet to check out is the gameplay which, to be honest, wasn't all that hot in the Amiga game. Still, other conversions of the game have had the playability tweaked and there's no reason why Atari can't have done the same with their incarnation of Beast. We'll find out soon enough - the game gets the complete GO! Review in the very next issue!

TRACK ME





GAME BOY - £24.99

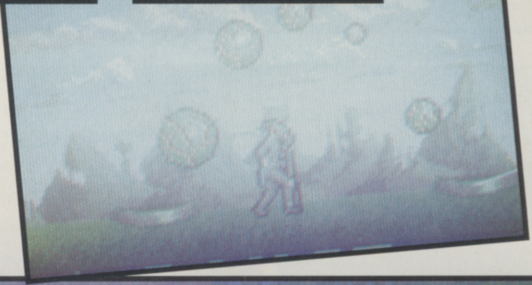
You really can't go wrong with a multi-event sports game, especially when it's around at the same time as the Olympic Games! Track Meet on the Game Boy takes a humourous look at track and field, with a variety of weird and wacky runners taking on the player at seven different events.

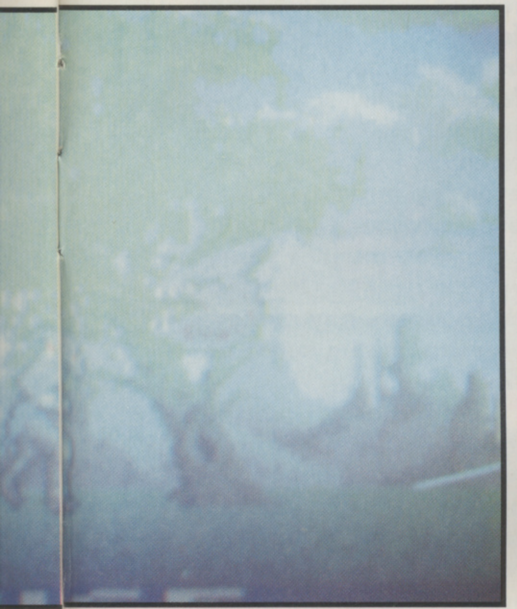
Try your hand at the 100m Sprint, Hurdles, Javelin Throwing, Pole Vault, Long Jump, Discus Throw and Weightlifting. Each of the Game Boy-controlled characters has some little quirk or strength that you'll have to combat to beat him overall - for instance, Swammi Pastrami the mysterious Indian entrant can use a flying carpet on the Hurdles!

If you don't fancy battling against the Boy, there's a link option allowing two humans to push each other to the limit and, if you feel as though your athletic skills leave a lot to be desired, practice any of the events on the Practice screen.

We've seen a preview version of the game and thought it was the tops, with great graphics and frantic button-hammering gameplay. There's no clever maneuvering of the joypad in this little baby; just simple, honest-to-goodness button hammering of the highest order. Each of your opponents gets just that little bit harder and you'll have to become proficient in all of the events to beat the lot of them, because all of the characters are specialists in an event or two and they could just pip you at the post when it comes to handing out the points. Track Meet should be doing the rounds just as the Olympics begin - look out for it soon!

DOW OF BEAST





EET

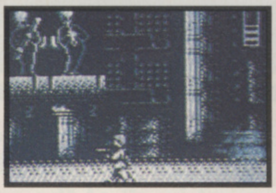
STAR WARS

GAME BOY - £26.99



You've seen the film. You've played with the plastic toys and smashed them to smithereens when you were little. Now, get ready to play Star Wars on your Game Boy! The exploits of Luke Skywalker and Co are about to swoop onto the little Nintendo in a digital adaption of the movie that is beaten in the Top Ten Grossing Films Of All Time chart only by ET - and it looks set to be as hot as the stunning NES version!

Star Wars promises to be a top intergalactic treat, with flight sequences is X-Wing Fighters and, of course, Han Solo's Millenium Falcon breaking up the platform antics at regular intervals. There are tons of different endings, ensuring that play won't be over just because you've clocked the cart once, and graphically it looks the biz. We'll find out if the finished product comes up to standard when we review Star Wars at a time not too far away!

SUPER OFF-ROAD

LYNX - £29.99

Super Off-Road is coming to the Lynx! One of the best multi-player driving games of all time is racing toward owners of Atari's great little wonder courtesy of Telegames. Up to four players can compete in souped-up trucks for fame and, more importantly, hard cash! Sixteen tortuous tracks will test even the most accomplished racer, but don't worry too much if your vehicle isn't the hottest on the course - any money you win can be spent at the Race Shop!

Telegames reckon that it'll be a spot-on convert, with the added bonus of being the first conversion to feature simultaneous four-player thrills and spills! Sounds like Lynx owners would be crazy to miss this one - don't sleep until you've checked out the Review that'll you'll find in a forthcoming GO!

TURN AND BURN

GAME BOY - £TBA

Care for a little gung-ho flying on your Game Boy? Well then, best check out Turn And Burn, hadn't you! It's the first 3D flight game on the machine and promises to be one of the best blasts around! You're in the cockpit of an F-14 Tomcat, one of the hottest fighter planes the US Air Force has to offer - and you're gonna use it! It's enemy-toasting action all the way as you patrol the skies, wiping out all manner of baddies. Takeoffs and landings can be attempted, and there are a variety of weapons systems to use and abuse. This is one worth watching for!
